Lowry filed a motion for a certificate of appealability on June 6, 2006, which the court construed as a notice of appeal.* Lowry's notice of appeal was filed more than ten days after the court entered judgment on his motion pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 3582 and, therefore, was outside the ten-day appeal period. * A certificate of appealability is not required for review of a district court's denial of a motion to modify a term of imprisonment under 18 U.S.C. § 3582. See United States v. Hernandez, 2004 WL 1147258, *1 fn (4th Cir. 2004) (unpublished); see also Lowe v. United States, 2007 WL 41951, *1 (M.D. Ga. 2007) (certificate of appealability is not necessary to the appeal of a motion filed pursuant to 18 U.S.C. § 3582(c). Accordingly, the motion should have been construed as a notice of appeal. See United States v. Miller, 2004 WL 2677060, *1 n1 (4th Cir. 2004) (unpublished).

extension of up to thirty days to file a notice of appeal, and such an extension would render Lowry's notice of appeal timely in the present case.

By Memorandum Opinion and Order entered on January 23, 2008, Lowry was given until February 22, 2008, to file a motion with the Clerk requesting an extension of the appeal period and setting forth any reason he has to show why he was late in filing his notice of appeal and why the court should excuse his late filing. Lowry has yet to file a response to the court's Memorandum Opinion and Order. Accordingly, the court finds that Lowry has not shown excusable neglect or good cause warranting an extension of the ten-day appeal period.

The Clerk is directed to forward a copy of this Memorandum Opinion and Order to Mr. Lowry and to counsel of record.

IT IS SO ORDERED this 18th day of November, 2008.
